All the Fun of the Air

Microlighting is probably the most exhilarating form of powered flight, being very light maneuverable and easy to fly aircraft they are often operated from any reasonably level farmers field and with over 500 such airfields dotted around the UK, an 'away day' can take on a whole new perspective.

With modern Microlights being able to cruise at 80-mph and with a range in excess of 300 miles on a single tank of fuel many British Microlight pilots now make regular forays into Europe and beyond, some having even flown to Australia.

Being located 6 miles to the North of Derby on the fringes of the beautiful Derbyshire Dales, Ram Air is ideally situated for an introduction to this fascinating past time and with pilots at the club ranging from a young lady of 21 years to a young gentlemen in his mid 70's this really is an activity for all.

Should you not aspire to be a pilot but feel you, or someone you know would simply like to "have a go" please take advantage of our gift voucher scheme.
